providing a quality, affordable, living experience

But if you need another reason to consider the Squamish market, think 2010. While some of us have long overlooked the value of the region, tourists and venue personnel introduced to the market in the coming years will not take as long to sight the value. The community of Squamish has an insatiable spirit to it not found in other areas of Greater Vancouver. The sense of community continues to be fostered by its people and from its protection from the urban sprawl that has occurred in other parts over the past five years.

The natural beauty of the area, the recreational opportunities and its growing commerce base coupled with the central location between Whistler and Vancouver lend a charm to Squamish which is unparalleled. With the community's continued growth and relative affordable lifestyle, the young continue to be attracted to the market. Youth come for the opportunity and the lifestyle it affords them but in return contributes to the youthful vitality of the market.

Within the growing township of Squamish, against the backdrop of the B.C. Coastal Mountains Amblepath will be a quality community of 70 individual single-family homes of incomparable value and affordability

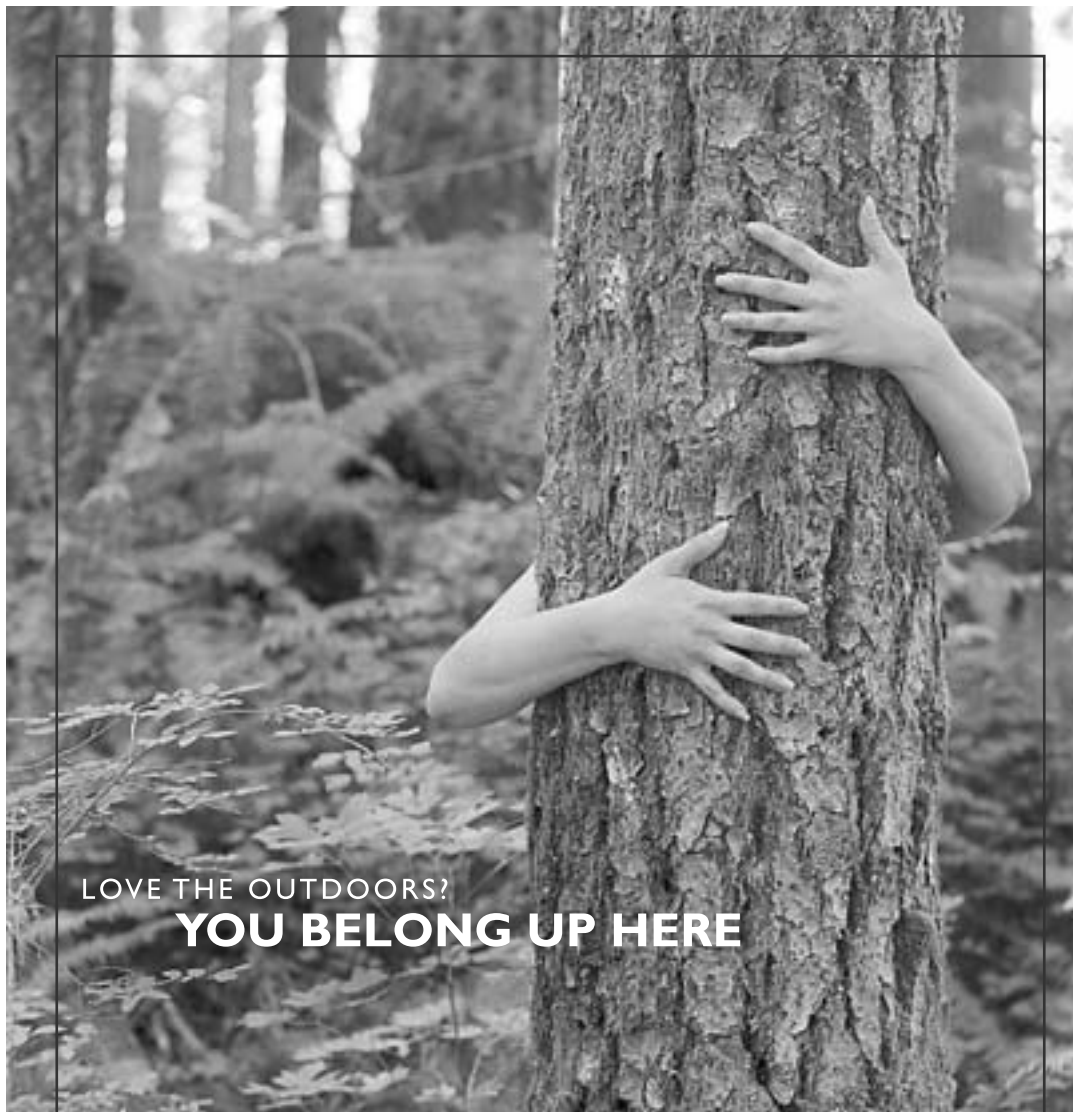

Purchase a fully-serviced lot priced from $125,000 to $159,000 and choose from a selection of house plans specifically designed for Amblepath or build a home of your own design

At Amblepath, there are amenities to suit every lifestyle located at your doorstep and easy access to Highway 99 takes you south to Vancouver and north to Whistler Resort

Take the path to better living
